

Luxembourg

Collage with pictures about Dudelange (Luxembourg)

Panorama from the “Mont Saint Jean” with its Celtic remains.
When the weather conditions allow it, you have a sight from Dudelange until Luxembourg city.

On this panorama we paste the photos of some important buildings or events in the city of Dudelange :

- the 2 school buildings participating in the Comenius project (www.ecoles-dudelange.lu)
- the municipality (www.dudelange.lu)
- the kiosk on the market place
- the outdoor swimming pool
- the church (www.cathol.lu >>>paroisses>>>Dudelange; www.orgue-dudelange.lu)
- the skate board park with the international meeting “Dudelange on wheels”
- a painting of the old melting furnace (the iron industry was one of the most important industrial activity in the south of Luxembourg)
- the nature reserve “Haardt” which was formerly an opencast mining
- the water tower which belonged to the iron industry an today it is the museum for the world-famous exposition “the bitter years” from Edward Steichen (www.cna-public.lu; www.industrie.lu/arbeddudelangeWaassertuerm.html; www.steichencollections.lu)

The detail :

Is the uppermost floor of the water tower and its roof.

We took this object because it is one of the landmarks of the city of Dudelange, and it stands for the past, the present and the future.

First it was part of the industrial activity in our region and now it is becoming part of our cultural heritage.
